From Father Anthony

One of the twelve major feast days of the Orthodox Church is the Meeting of Our Lord, celebrated on February 2nd. In the western Christian tradition, this feast is usually referred to as the “Presentation of Our Lord” or sometimes, the “Purification of Mary.” The most accurate translation of the original Greek term for this feast (Hypapante) is Meeting, based on the Greek verb hypan-tao, meaning I go or come to meet. Let us see how this term accurately describes the main thrust of this holy feast.

Upon reading the Gospel passage from Luke describing the original event (Lk 2:22-38), one may immediately conclude that this event is focused on both the ritualistic purification of Mary, as well as the ritual of presenting the first-born male to the Temple according to Mosaic law. The Church, however, sees something deeper than what appears on the surface.

Here is an excellent example of how Orthodoxy only views the Church as the official commentator on Holy Scripture. The Holy Fathers show us clearly, that the presentation of Christ by His parents to the Temple signifies something more than the obvious. The Fathers teach us that this event was the formal meeting of the Savior with His people. In the feast of the Meeting of Our Lord, the Old and New Testaments come face to face through the persons of Jesus Christ and the Elder Simeon.

Regarding the Elder Simeon, one tradition teaches that he was the sacrificing priest of the Temple at the time, which is also found in the liturgical text of the feast. Another tradition places Simeon as either one of the official 70 translators of the Hebrew Old Testament into Greek (known as the Septuagint), who was allowed by God to live 250 years until the coming of the Messiah; or, that he was most likely a descendent of the 70, thus putting him into the category of a prophet. By considering both cases, we see Simeon representing both the Law and the Prophets of the Old Testament. He stands in the Temple of God on behalf of all the people of Israel, who along with him, have long been awaiting the coming of the Messiah.

The Holy Fathers have also commented on the divine kenosis, or self-emptying, self-abasement of the Lord during His presentation. Here we see the author of the Law now subject to the Law. Simeon holds in his arms God Incarnate who has humbled Himself to the extent of accepting human birth, appearing on earth in a form which completely veils His divine glory.

Receive, O Simeon, Him whom Moses once saw in the cloud, granting the law on Sinai, and who has now become a child subject to the law. This is He who spoke through the law, this is He whose voice was heard by the prophets. He has become incarnate for us and saves humanity. Let us worship Him! (from the Vespers of the Feast)

Two other aspects of the feast which are pointed out by the Holy Fathers, have to do with the persons of Joseph and the Prophetess Anna. In the icon of the feast, we see Joseph holding two turtle-doves to be offered for his wife’s ritualistic purification after giving birth. This detail clearly shows us that the Holy Family was of modest means, and could not afford a year-old lamb as the Law required. The Holy Fathers again see something deeper; the lamb is not missing, for Christ is the perfect sacrificial lamb – the spotless victim being offered to the world by the hands of Mary. The Fathers also ascribe a meaningful symbol to the turtle-doves, referring to them as the future Church of Israel and the Church of the Gentiles, which will become one through Christ.

Regarding Anna, she prophetically represents the women heralds of the Resurrection, who went to tell the world about the Risen Lord. She is an example of true Christian witness through her preaching, and her example of fervent prayer and fasting.

Beloved brothers and sisters in Christ, through the feast of the Meeting of Our Lord, hopefully we can see how certain important passages in the Holy Gospels are not just nice stories, or trivial “fillers” meant to add some “interest” to the early part of the life of Christ. By turning to the Holy Tradition of the Church, we find much deeper truths that lead us to a profound understanding of Christ and His sacred ministry upon earth. May we all celebrate this meaningful and symbolic feast of our Church with a clearer understanding of its significance. Let each one of us also meet the Lord within our souls spiritually, as we celebrate this holy feast.

In Christ’s love,

+Fr. Anthony

TRIODION BEGINS 2/13

As you see on the February calendar, the Triodion period this year begins on 2/13, the Sunday of the Publican and the Pharisee (Holy Pascha is on 4/24). The Triodion period covers the three preparatory weeks before Lent, the six weeks of Great Lent, and Holy Week. Following are traditional fasting guidelines for the first three weeks of the Triodion:

- 1st Week (2/13-19): no fasting – all foods permitted daily
- 2nd Week (2/20-26): regular Wednesday & Friday fast
- 3rd Week (2/27-3/5): Meatfare Sunday, 2/27 – last day for meat until Pascha; remainder of week – dairy products and eggs permitted daily, including Cheesefare Sunday, 3/6*

*Note: Some sources state that fish is also permitted daily during Cheesefare Week. The general consensus is that the consumption of fish ends on Meatfare Sunday (see Archdiocesan calendar).

SPECIAL NOTICE FOR 1ST WEEK OF LENT

Please note that each year, His Eminence Metropolitan Methodios asks that there be no meetings or other activities during the first week of Great Lent. For this year, that will be from the evening of Sunday, 3/6 through Saturday, 3/12. Obviously, this applies to both church and affiliated organizations. The focus during the first week of Lent should be spiritual – both on a personal and parish level. As I do each year, I will offer daily services that week in order to aid our proper entrance into Great Lent.

Also, as a general reminder throughout the calendar year, no meetings or activities should ever be scheduled simultaneously with a church service. When in doubt, please check with Fr. Anthony directly.

CHRISTMAS “THANK YOU’S”

Since our combined December/January bulletin is printed and distributed in late November, our February bulletin is the first opportunity to express appreciation for the Christmas season. First of all, most of us probably don't even know who does the beautiful Christmas decorations year after year. We would like to thank the decoration chairwoman, Meri Weinberg and her committee, Ona Calogrias, Ann Langway, Maria Tsaganis Sampson, and Connie Spiros. Thanks again ladies, for bringing color and warmth into our holy temple. Also, we express gratitude to our Sunday School teachers and students for a wonderful pageant (we had many compliments for this year's performance), as well as our Greek School teachers and students who also did a great job with their Christmas program. We also thank Heidi Mason and the entire choir for the beautiful rendition of traditional carols during the pageant and on Christmas day after the liturgy. Our appreciation also goes to our Philoptochos ladies for the enjoyable family Christmas luncheon, as well as the Vasilopita cutting celebration. May the Lord bless all of the above and our entire parish family during this new calendar year!

COMMUNION WINE NEEDED

Your past generosity had provided almost a two-year supply of communion wine. Now that we are running low, I again appeal to everyone's generosity. Please remember that the communion wine we now use is known as Nama, and can be purchased at Athena International of Brockton. This is an exceptional, lower alcohol wine produced specifically for the sacrament of Holy Communion. Please know that your anticipated donation would be a great blessing for you and your loved ones. Thank you and God bless.

WHAT IS CANONICAL GOOD STANDING?

As many of you know, when someone is asked to be a sponsor for a wedding or baptism, they must be in good canonical standing with the Orthodox Church. I've come to realize that many parishioners don't thoroughly understand what this means, and often times, do not realize that they may not currently be in good standing. Many think that this has to do with having pledged and paid their stewardship obligation. This is only part of the picture, since good standing has more to do with Church canon law. The majority of these situations surround marriage and divorce. Following are examples of how we fall out of good canonical standing.

- A married Orthodox Christian must be married in the Orthodox Church, even if the first ceremony was held in the church of another denomination. Marriage in the Orthodox Church, however, is only possible when the non-Orthodox spouse has been baptized by a recognized Christian denomination.
- A civilly divorced Orthodox Christian must go through a process of reconciliation with the Church in order to regain good standing. A second marriage in the Church cannot take place unless the situation is addressed.
- Second marriages after divorcing or having widowed must also be performed in the Church. Some of the faithful who have married a second time, for some reason, do not approach the Church to perform the sacrament.
- The Orthodox partner of couples who are cohabitating before marriage is also out of good canonical standing until married in the Orthodox Church.

It is very important to know that until the above situations are rectified, one cannot receive Holy Communion, nor be a sponsor for a wedding or a baptism here or elsewhere. The Archdiocese also requires married couples who are not in good standing to rectify their situation before baptizing their children. Please know that these situations are easily rectified once brought to the attention of your priest.

The Church, in her compassion, is always concerned about everyone's spiritual well-being and their salvation. Please do not be misguided in thinking that these guidelines are flexible according to the "strictness" or "leniency" of the priest. (Having said this, there are certain situations that require other considerations.) These guidelines exist in order to keep everyone in God's grace and growing toward salvation. Christ's unending love for His sons and daughters continues through His Body, the Church, which He established on earth for our salvation. Please do not hesitate to contact me directly to discuss any of these matters further.

SERVICE CANCELLATIONS

During the winter months, service cancellations on bad weather days will be announced on the church's voice-mail system. Simply call the church and select #2 on the main menu – "church services for the current week." Make sure to check before departing for church, since the decision to cancel is usually made in the morning, or late afternoon for evening services.

FROM THE LIVES OF THE SAINTS

The Hieromartyr Haralambos of Magnesia (2/10). He was a priest during the second century in his hometown of Magnesia in Asia Minor. He preached openly and into old age during the persecutions of Emperor Servios. At the age of one hundred thirteen, Governor Lukianos who attempted to force Haralambos to renounce Christ arrested him. They tied him to a post in the town square for ridicule. They cut him with knives. He thanked the soldiers for scraping off his old body, his flesh, and renewing his soul. He healed the afflicted that were brought to him and won converts. He drove a demon out of a man who had been possessed for thirty-five years. The people protested his proposed death, so the governor sent him to the emperor. He was led through the streets with a horse's bit and crucified, but first he converted the emperor's daughter Gallina. When they ordered him executed, he prayed for the sins of all men and the abundance of the fruits of the earth, and gave up his soul before he could be beheaded. The executioners were converted and Gallina buried his body.

Porphyrios, Bishop of Gaza (2/26). Porphyrios was from a noble family in late fourth century Thessalonica. He left there to become a monk in a hermitage in Egypt. After only five years, he went to Jerusalem where he taught and enlightened many unbelievers. For this, the patriarch of Jerusalem ordained him to the priesthood. Later, the archbishop of Caesarea ordained him as bishop. Porphyrios worked many miracles by his prayers and brought more unbelievers to the knowledge of God. When he saw the injustice suffered by those in his diocese at the hands of the idol worshippers and heretics, he went for help to Patriarch John Chrysostom. Through channels, John led Porphyrios to the queen, and she approached the king. The king anticipated difficulties in unseating the heretic masters of Gaza, but the queen convinced him that it would be more difficult to turn down the request of this bishop. The king agreed and the idol worshippers were driven out. The king gave Porphyrios large quantities of gold with which he built churches, demolished temples, and further persecuted the heretics. Porphyrios worked in this capacity for almost twenty-five years before he peacefully gave up his soul.

SPIRITUAL WISDOM

With the gift of God's wisdom, I curb incontinent anger; with this, I quiet corrosive envy; with this again, I quell grief that shackles the heart; with this, I moderate hatred, but not love; the one we should moderate; the other, knows no limit.

St. Gregory the Theologian

When you hear the songs of birds in the trees in springtime, or other sweet singing, raise your mind to the sweetest songs of paradise and think how the heavens echo forever with Alleluia and other angelic praises, and pray God to let you sing His praises forever, in company with those heavenly spirits, of whom Revelation says: "And after these things I heard a great voice of much people in heaven, saying, Alleluia; salvation, and glory, and honour, and power, unto the Lord our God" (Rev. 19:1).

St. Theophan the Recluse

The holy Triodion begins with the beautiful example of the Publican and the Pharisee to instruct us that through a humble mind anyone can acquire justification, that is, the forgiveness of his sins from God. Likewise this parable reveals the great evil – pride – which acts as a mighty obstacle for the forgiveness of sins, in spite of practicing all the other virtues and especially almsgiving... From this and from many other Scriptural truths, we are taught that without humility and true repentance a person cannot be saved, even if he prospers in the other virtues.
